Participant Assessments and Choices

You are at the centre of our services. We will partner with you to learn about your strengths and preferences to design supports that are right for you.

We want you to tell us what services you need and how and when you want them delivered. This holistic and collaborative approach ensures that One Life Foundation can meet your expectations. We will design a service that assists you to maintain and improve your lifestyle while increasing your independence and involvement in the community.

Your support (or service) plan is developed with you as its focus. We will create the plan in collaboration with you, your family or advocate, our team, and any other required support professionals. Assessments will be undertaken before you commence receiving service from One Life

Foundation. Our One Life Foundation will conduct all assessments face to face with you, your family and/or advocate.

Your support plan, which is created with One Life Foundation, will be person-centred and take an individualised approach. The plan will focus on you as an individual and be designed to promote your independence. We will record your unique skills and strengths, together with your goals and aspirations. The plan will be flexible and open to change, depending on your progress and other factors. One Life Foundation will regularly review your support plan to ensure that we are meeting your needs and personal requirements. We welcome your feedback regarding the services we provide you.

Included below is the process that is taken to commence the development of the support plan:

1. One Life Foundation will perform assessments face-to-face with you, your family and/or advocate. Any specific access or entry requirements we have will be discussed with you.
2. Assessment interview time/s are arranged by telephone. Your advocate will be invited to be present (if applicable).

If you have a communication method you prefer, please let our team know to arrange this for you.

Interpreter Services

If you are from a non-English speaking background, we can engage an interpreter if you would like one. We will only engage an interpreter if we have your permission.

The interpreter will attend meetings with you and record all meeting information in your record. In an emergency or a crisis, we can arrange for a telephone interpreter service.

Management of Budgets, Statements and Fees

You receive an NDIS funding package to pay for your disability support and support management. Your package lets you decide the type of disability supports you need, who provides it and where it is provided. Thank you for choosing One Life Foundation as part of your support team. Our team will never offer you financial advice or information.

One Life Foundation will regularly inform you of the cost of the services being provided. We are transparent with our fee structure. When starting your service with us, we will provide you with a statement that clearly outlines your fees. We then will provide you with a statement each month that outlines your fees.

Fees may be changed during your service delivery, but you will be informed of this increase two weeks in advance.

Please note: There are annual changes in the NDIS Price Guide; these will automatically adjust your fees.

Before services are provided, we will inform you of:

- chargeable fees

If you require One Life Foundation to provide financial assistance, you, your family or advocate must approve the arrangement and complete a Participant Money and Property Consent Form.

If your Support Plan requires One Life Foundation staff to be involved in handling your money, strict procedures will be followed to protect you from financial abuse. Your Service Agreement and Support Plan will outline the assistance you need relating to your money and property.

You, your family or your advocate must sign the Service Agreement and Support Plan.

Our staff are not permitted to provide you with financial advice or information other than what is required under your Support Plan.

One Life Foundation undertakes an annual audit relating to your money and property supports and will provide you with a copy of this report.

Gifts

One Life Foundation recognises that you may, on occasion, like to give a gift to a Staff member. If you wish to give a gift, we prefer that it is something that can be shared by all Staff, e.g. flowers, a cake or chocolates.

Please NEVER offer or provide money to One Life Foundation Staff member.

One Life Foundation and its employees will not entertain any offers of money, gifts, services, or benefits that could potentially lead us to act against the interests of an NDIS participant. Additionally, staff and workers will not hold any financial or personal interests that might directly or indirectly impact or undermine the selection of a provider or the provision of support to a participant. This encompasses refraining from soliciting or providing any form of commission by staff, workers, or ourselves.

Re-negotiating an Agreement

When your needs or circumstances change (e.g. support worker or advocate), or where you request an increase or decrease in the number or type of services, the re-negotiation of your One Life Foundation service agreement may be required. Our One Life Foundation will advise you if this is the case and arrange for a revised service agreement to be prepared.

Participant Transport

During your initial meeting with One Life Foundation, we will discuss your transport requirements. Together, we will determine the most appropriate transport services to meet your needs and if this is required as part of your package or as an additional service.

If you did not arrange transport as part of your service agreement, we could help. One Life Foundation can arrange to include transport services as part of your package or as an additional service.

Service Agreement

Once One Life Foundation has been selected as your service provider, we will develop a service agreement with you, your family or your advocate (if required). This service agreement will list the schedule of supports, the responsibilities of One Life Foundation, your responsibilities (as a participant) and our cancellation policy.

Conflict of Interest

One Life Foundation is committed to ensuring that actions and decisions taken at all levels in our organisation are informed, objective and fair. A conflict of interest may affect the way a staff member may act or the choices they make. Identified conflicts of interest require action to be undertaken by our organisation to ensure that personal or individual interests do not impact your or our services, activities or decisions.

One Life Foundation requires all staff to declare their involvement in external work-related activities to allow for discussion and management of the potential conflicts of interest with the One Life Foundation. Declaration and management of a conflict of interest are handled by the Managing Director of One Life Foundation. If any staff undertake other (new) work outside of our organisation, they must inform One Life Foundation immediately.

As a participant, if you feel that there is a conflict of interest, please let us know. We will provide you with a Conflict of Interest Declaration Form to complete.

In the event you declare or identify a conflict of interest, One Life Foundation will assess the conflict to determine if a conflict of interest exists (or there is a perception that a conflict exists). A meeting will be convened to discuss the conflict, and you may be asked to:

- contribute to the discussion, but abstain from voting or taking part in a decision on the matter
- observe but do not take part in the meetings or decision-making
- leave the meeting during the discussion and before a decision has been made.

All potential and actual conflicts will be recorded in the Conflict of Interest Register to oversee the identified and declared conflicts.

You will be informed of the outcome of the review by One Life Foundation. and, if there is a conflict, advise how our organisation will manage the conflict.

Workers and staff should not misuse One Life Foundation property, information and data for their own personal use.

All workers will act in the best interests of participants and other customers, ensuring that participants are informed, empowered and able to maximise choices and controls.

Staff members will not (by act or omission) constrain, influence or direct decision-making by a person with a disability and/or their family to limit that person's access to information, opportunities, choices and controls.

Everyone in One Life Foundation including workers, staff, management team and contractors shall have considered their actions as follows:

- What kind of conflict with my duties will be perceived?
- Is there any personal benefit involved in their action of duties?

NDIS Code of Conduct

One Life Foundation and its employees are dedicated to adhering to the NDIS Code of Conduct outlined below:

1. Act with respect for individual rights to freedom of expression, self-determination and decision-making in accordance with applicable laws and conventions.
2. Respect the privacy of people with disability.
3. Provide supports and services in a safe and competent manner, with care and skill.
4. Act with integrity, honesty and transparency.
5. Promptly take steps to raise and act on concerns about matters that may impact the quality and safety of supports and services provided to people with disability.
6. Take all reasonable steps to prevent and respond to all forms of violence against, and exploitation, neglect and abuse of, people with disability.
7. Take all reasonable steps to prevent and respond to sexual misconduct.
8. without a valid reason, not represent or charge a higher price for goods supplied to a NDIS participant that is higher than the price that would be supplied or charged to a person who is not a NDIS participant.

The NDIS Commission requires One Life Foundation to demonstrate honesty, integrity, and transparency in all their dealings. This extends to how they determine pricing for products and services offered to NDIS scheme participants, along with providing clear justifications for their pricing decisions.

Additionally, providers are bound by the Australian Consumer Law (ACL), which prohibits misleading or deceptive conduct, false statements, and unfair contract terms, including those related to the pricing of goods and services, thus ensuring fair treatment of NDIS participants and plan managers.

Price differentiation occurs when a provider charges NDIS participants a higher price for identical products, supports, or services compared to other customers. The recently updated NDIS Code of Conduct Provider and Worker Guidance (Guidance) (April 22nd, 2024) recognises price differentiation as a potential form of 'sharp practice'. The Commission expects NDIS providers to refrain from engaging in or endorsing such practices. This entails:

- Avoiding charging participants more than others for essentially the same product, support, or service without valid justification.
- Abstaining from promoting, advertising, or publicizing higher prices for essentially the same products, supports, or services for participants compared to others without valid justification.

Culture, Diversity, Values and Beliefs

For One Life Foundation to provide a diverse and inclusive service to participants and their families, One Life Foundation decision does this by promoting the below:

- Support cultural diversity and promote the inclusive environment
- Support participants to play an active role in the community
- Finding participants' needs by consulting with their family members and carers
- Create an inclusive workplace for all staff and workers and respect their cultural, beliefs and language differences
- Ensuring that there is no difference in service provision between participants and the rest of the people in the society
- support people with CALD and Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander (ATSI) backgrounds with their cultural and spiritual beliefs
- At the direction of the participant, the culture, diversity, values and beliefs of that participant are identified and sensitively responded to.
- Each participant's right to practice their culture, values and beliefs while accessing support is supported
- One Life Foundation's participants whose English is not their primary language will be provided with interpretation support (if required) or in case of a meeting, these people would be able to bring a member of their family who speaks English.

Violence, Abuse, Neglect, and Exploitation

One Life Foundation recognises your right to feel safe and to live in an environment where you are protected from assault, neglect, exploitation or any other form of abuse.

We encourage and support any person who has witnessed abuse towards one of our participants or suspects that abuse has occurred to make a report and be confident of doing so without fear of retribution. Our reporting process includes any kind of abuse, including financial, emotional, social, psychological, sexual, physical abuse or neglect.

You can make a report to whomever you feel comfortable and safe with; this may include one of our employees, our One Life Foundation Team, a family member, your advocate or a trusted friend.

If you would like to speak with someone outside of One Life Foundation, you can contact the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission:

Phone: 1800 035 544 (free call from landlines) or TTY 133 677

National Relay Service and ask for 1800 035 544

Interpreters can be arranged.

You can also complete a NDIS Complaint Contact Form online. Go to the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission website business.gov.au

One Life Foundation acknowledges that prevention is the best protection from abuse and neglect and recognises our duty of care to put in place prevention strategies that include appropriate protocols that assist in identifying potential risks. Our prevention strategies include only employing skilled Staff, who respect the rights of participants and who are aware of current legislation and policies regarding abuse and neglect. Our Staff can assist you, your family or advocate, to access our complaints process and raise any concerns regarding our service provision.

Where abuse, harm or neglect has occurred, One Life Foundation will respond quickly, considerately and effectively to protect you from any further harm. We will provide you with access to any required counselling, medical and/or legal assistance.

When you make allegations of abuse, neglect, violence, exploitation or discrimination, you have the right to have an advocate present. One Life Foundation can arrange this for you.

Incident Management Policy and Procedure is established to investigate and report the abuse, exploitation and neglect-related issues.

Training is required for everyone in One Life Foundation to recognize, prevent and minimise abuse, exploitation and neglect.
One Life Foundation will have one trained manager appointed to deal with any abuse related issues.

Everyone has a responsibility about abuse, exploiting and neglect as follows:

- The victim should be supported by all staff and workers and members of the organisation
- If required, the responsible manager should inform relevant authorities, carer of the victim including their family and guardians or their substitute decisionmakers (if applicable)
- All staff and workers and witnesses should cooperate with relevant authorities in the process of investigation.

Bullying, Harassment and Discrimination

One Life Foundation is dedicated to fostering a workplace and participant environment that is devoid of bullying, harassment, and discrimination.

One Life Foundation is dedicated to executing training and awareness initiatives to guarantee that all employees and staff understand their rights and obligations regarding bullying, harassment, and discrimination.

Any instances of discrimination, harassment, or bullying involving workers or participants are deemed unacceptable and will be firmly condemned.

Everyone shares equal rights and responsibilities regarding sexual harassment.
Any incidents of discrimination, bullying, harassment, or discrimination should be addressed with the Managing Director or reported via the Incident Management Policy and Procedure.

Victimizing individuals who have lodged a complaint or assisted others in doing so, as well as those involved in the investigation process, constitutes discrimination, harassment, and/or bullying.

Violation of this policy and procedure in any manner may result in termination of employment.

Delegation of Responsibility and Authority

The One Life Foundation will arrange your support schedule, so you know who will be working with you to deliver your services and supports. We will provide you with a Staff who has the skills and knowledge you require. Wherever possible, we will meet your support requests, e.g. you would like a worker who speaks the same language, or is from the same culture, or meets other specific criteria.

Staff are allocated to you regularly so that you can feel comfortable with them and receive predictable and continuous support. The supports we provide are linked to your support plan and will demonstrate consistency with your needs and requests.

What will happen if your worker is absent?

- One Life Foundation will contact Staff members with relevant qualifications as a suitable replacement.
- Where possible, we will provide a Staff member who has worked with you previously and is aware of your requirements.
- Where possible, we will advise you of details of the replacement Staff member.
- We will gather your feedback on the replacement Staff member on completion of the service.
- The replacement Staff will be sensitive to your needs and ensure that care is consistent with your expressed preferences.
- We will seek your approval for the placement staff member and will never place someone to support you who you do not wish.

Participant Right to Access an Advocate

An advocate is a person who will listen to you, help you make decisions about what should happen in your life and then speak, on your behalf, to arrange for those decisions to be implemented. An advocate will ensure that your rights are respected and speak out for you if your needs are not met.

You can ask anyone that you know well and trust to be your advocate, such as a:

- member of your family or a friend
- a person from a legal advocacy service.
- It is the participant's right to choose their own advocates, change their advocates or withdraw their advocate's authority

Should a participant not have anyone to accept their advocacy, One Life Foundation can help you find an advocate by providing a list of available advocacy services. Once you have selected an advocate,

One Life Foundation will provide you with a form that must be completed called Form13.Advocate Nomination Form

With your permission, One Life Foundation will:

- provide your advocate with all the information they need to ensure that we (and any other service providers) are acting in your best interest
- work closely with your advocate and involve them in the planning of services that will be provided to you
- ensure our Staff understand the role of your advocate.

One Life Foundation will ensure that your advocate is invited to attend:

- consultation meetings
- person-centred planning meetings and reviews
- any other relevant meetings or conferences.

You can use your advocate:

- any time you wish to communicate with us
- during your initial assessment consultation
- during your interviews and reviews
- during service delivery
- when you want to make a complaint
- when you want to give feedback.

We encourage you to bring your advocate to your initial assessment meeting, so your voice is heard during the planning process, guiding and developing your person-centred support plan. Your advocate is welcome to attend any meeting and to speak on your behalf.

You can change your advocate at any time. If you change your advocate, please inform us as soon as possible to update your information and ensure that we talk to the correct person.

Participant Consent

When you provide consent, you give your permission or say that it is okay for something to happen. You must always fully understand why a person requires your consent. If you have any doubt about this, you should ask our team, or your advocate, for help.

You can withdraw your consent at any time. For example, the withdrawal of consent means if you are taking part in a particular program and decide that you do not like the program, you can tell us that you no longer want to participate in that program.

One Life Foundation will need your consent to:

- read the information that service providers have about you and for us to provide any information about you to other service providers, your family or advocate
- collect data relating to you for funding bodies
- ask people to attend your person-centred planning meeting
- carry out any training programs or behaviour change programs we want to put in place for you
- assist you to see a doctor or a dentist
- provide appropriate services and supports
- provide you with medication.

If you feel that you cannot consent about issues in your life, we can talk to your family or advocate and ask them to assist. If you do not have family who can make decisions for you, we will help you apply to the court, or other government bodies, to appoint a Guardian who can legally help you make these decisions.

As a participant, your rights are as follows:

- The participant should make an informed decision before giving the consent

- If any participant requires additional time for any consent, enough time should be provided to make the best decision and have enough time for consultation
- Withdrawal of consent is part of the participant's right at any time
- Participants can evaluate the risks associated to their decision and take assessed risks

One Life Foundation's responsibilities for participant consent are as follows:

- A participant consent using Form18. Participant Information Consent Form will be obtained in case if the decision is related to any medical or dental treatment, behaviour support and accommodation arrangements
- Before disclosure of any personal information to other parties consent is required.

The personal information could be disclosed without consent only if there is one of the following:

- The person is at risk of harm or injury; or
- It is required by law

Privacy Statement

One Life Foundation is committed to complying with all relevant privacy legislation and has systems for the collection, use, disclosure, quality, security, accuracy and correction of personal information relating to you, as our participant.

Your privacy and dignity will always be maintained. You will be asked to sign Form19.Privacy and Confidentiality Agreement to consent to collect, use, and disclose your personal information to comply with the Privacy Act 1988. - Be respectful to the house rules and ensure that they are abide by
- In a Supported Independent Living (SIL) home, it's essential to have a structured and transparent process for addressing changes in a participant's circumstances and support needs. This process involves collaboration between the participant, their support team, and service providers, this will be documented on Form27.Initial Assessment and Support Plan, it will be reviewed every year. However, should any circumstances change, the participant is required to notify the provider so this information can be reviewed and updated to ensure optimal care is provided to the participant.

- Provide access to the room for maintenance checks and repairs as agreed
- When a participant has concerns about their SIL dwelling, it's important to ensure these concerns are effectively communicated and addressed to the provider, the participant can notify these concerns by sending an email to the provider. The provider will complete all maintenance and/or repairs within 14 days of receiving written notice of work needs.
- Not use the property for any illegal purposes
- Abide by the house rules listed below:

House rules for SIL (Supported Independent Living) are a set of guidelines that outline the expectations for behaviour and conduct of residents in a shared living arrangement. The rules are designed to create a safe, respectful, and supportive living environment for all residents. The rules include:

1. Respect for others: Residents are expected to respect the privacy, personal space, and belongings of other residents.
2. Noise: Residents are expected to keep noise levels at a reasonable level to ensure a peaceful and comfortable living environment.
3. Cleanliness: Residents are expected to keep the living space clean and tidy, including common areas such as the kitchen and bathroom.
4. Smoking: Depending on the policy of the service provider, smoking may be prohibited inside the house or on the property.
5. Visitors: Depending on the house rules, residents may need to obtain permission before inviting guests to the house, and visitors may need to comply with certain rules such as noise restrictions or curfews.
6. Safety: Residents are expected to take measures to ensure their own safety and the safety of others in the house.
7. Responsibilities: Residents are expected to fulfill their responsibilities such as paying rent and bills on time, completing assigned household chores, and adhering to the terms of their SIL agreement.

It's important to note that the specific house rules may vary depending on the needs and preferences of the residents and the service provider. The rules should be clearly communicated to all residents and any changes to the rules should be discussed and agreed upon by all parties. The house rules are intended to create a positive and supportive living environment for all residents, and adherence to the rules is essential to achieve this goal.

- Unplanned exit payments

There are two situations below that a SIL provider can continue to claim SIL funds of a participant for a limited amount of time, if the participant:

- Dies;
- Exits the accommodation permanently where there is an irretrievable breakdown of supports/relationship which requires an immediate exit due to the participant's personal health and safety, or that of others, is critically compromised.

A SIL provider needs to refer to the NDIS for the different claiming processes related to an unplanned exit.

Filling Vacancies:

- In shared living situations, where participants with disabilities are involved, it is important to consider each participant's needs, wishes, choices, and situation when filling vacancies. A selection process will be developed that considers the individual needs, wishes, choices, and situations of each participant. This process should be transparent and fair, and ensure that all participants have equal opportunity to express their preferences and be considered for available vacancies.

Before filling a vacancy in a shared living arrangement, One Life Foundation understands it is important to consult with the existing participants to understand their needs, preferences, and concerns. This will be done through individual meetings or group discussions. By involving the participants in the decision-making process, they can provide valuable insights that can inform the selection of a new housemate.
